Everything Ready For Cooking School In The Town Hall

All arrangements have practically been completed for the holding of the Press Cooking school in the town on the afternoons of Thursday and Friday, Sept. 14 and 15. Doors will open at one o'clock, classes begin at two o'clock and end at four. Miss Elizabeth Emery of the Spry Research Kitchens of Cambridge, will know lecturer and home economist, will conduct both sessions of the school and will demonstrate and explain novel, time-saving, and thrifty methods of cookery. It will provide a rare opportunity for the women of Northfield to learn new ideas and tested recipes for main dishes and desserts that are wholesome, delicious and economical.

Miss Emery believes in "cooking with confidence" and says that any woman can duplicate her results by following the methods which she uses.

Since the cooking school is given with the aid of co-operating agencies and manufacturers, there will be certain electric stoves used and refrigerators as well. The Western Massachusetts Electric company will aid in the setting up of the stage and will also distribute at each session electric wall lamps to holders of the lucky numbers. Fifteen baskets of groceries will also be distributed each afternoon. Already shipments have been received of the commodities to be given away.

Every one attending will also receive a printed folder of recipes used by Miss Emery.

There will be no need of tickets as admission is FREE to all. Just make note of the dates and plan to attend. The Northfield Press is happy in being privileged to arrange for the demonstration.

It may be of interest to learn that Miss Emery will conduct the cooking school in Greenfield, Brattleboro and many other nearby places.

The Auction Sale

What might be termed, the largest attended and most successful auction sale in Northfield for a long time was held at the Warner home last Saturday. The auction, led by Auctioneer Joseph Field and assisted by a corps of workers began the sale promptly at one o'clock and there was spirited bidding for everything that was offered in the list of articles as advertised in last week's Press. The auction was continued until after ten o'clock in the evening and the crowd failed to diminish in numbers until the gavel fell on the last article sold. Good prices generally prevailed.

Woodruff Re-elected President Association Of Ridge Residents

The annual meeting of the residents of Rustic Ridge was held Wednesday afternoon of last week at the home of Miss Therese E. Simar with an attendance of some fifty members, despite the threatening weather and storm. President C. C. Woodruff presided at the session and many matters of business were considered. The Association is in good financial condition, despite the fact that owing to the hurricane considerable damage to roads and property had been made. Much of the fallen timber has been cleared. The Association expressed appreciation of the fine condition of North Lane, maintained by the town, which leads to the several properties. It was voted to continue the work by appropriation to fight the havoc of the gypsy moth.

Rev. W. H. Giebel was again appointed as the agent of the Association in the care and rental of properties. The election resulted in the naming of the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Rev. C. C. Woodruff; vice-president, Rev. W. H. DesJardins; secretary-treasurer, C. M. Ackerman; executive committee, Rev. Mr. Woodruff, Rev. Mr. DesJardins, Thomas J. Duncan, Mrs. J. F. Schmadeke, Mrs. Edna B. H. Jenkins, J. F. Russell, Rev. A. L. Berger, H. W. Doremus and C. M. Ackerman. After the business session, a social hour prevailed and refreshments were served.

Many new residents have come to the Ridge during the past year and there is a noteworthy improvement of many of the several homes.

A Special Meeting Of Town Voters

The articles were as follows: Article 1, to hear a report from the committee on high school repairs and see if the town will vote to raise and appropriate a sum of money to add to the amount, that is in the hands of the committee or pass any vote or votes in relation thereto.

Article 2, to see if the town will co-operate with the county and state in the maintenance of Chapter 90 road work and raise and appropriate the sum of $350 for the same, or take any vote or votes thereon.

Moderator William F. Hoehn called the meeting to order and presided and Town Clerk Mrs. Josephine S. Haskell read the warrant. The vote of the meeting too late for this week's issue will be announced next week.

Studies The Hostel In Various Countries

John Biesanz of Winona, Minn. who has hosted in all but one—Poland—of the eighteen European hostel countries in connection with the writing of his Doctor's thesis on the Youth Hostel movement, is spending several days at Northfield Youth Hostel headquarters.

Following graduation from the University of Chicago, Mr. Biesanz made a fourteen month's world tour gathering material of the hostel movement in the various countries of Europe and including a visit with Richard Schirrmann, the founder.

Mr. Biesanz mentioned in particular the hostels of the Irish Free State which "seemed blood of the life blood of the people," so evident was their eagerness to have hostels for their young people. While climbing a pyramid in Egypt, Mr. Biesanz met a group who, under the leadership of a Frenchman, were making initial plans for organizing a hostel.

On The Hotel Links

Conference Addresses Issued In Book Form Profitable Venture

The 1939 series of conference addresses delivered at the recent session of the 60th Northfield General conference has been issued complete in book form, within five days after its adjournment. Advance orders for the copies already assures its financial success and the mails have carried them to all sections of the country and abroad. As in the case of previous issues the publication has been copyrighted and all rights have been reserved. There are 23 addresses and sermons included within the covers of the book, the pages are "clean" attractive and the type readable. The owner of the conference addresses will have a fund of information at hand. Complete for study and for serious thought these addresses may be read and reread at one's desire. To have attended the conference and heard these addresses delivered was indeed a valuable privilege. Now to again read them enhances their value. Certainly no better work has been accomplished in the holding of the conference by the committee in charge, than the determination to once again, through the use of printers ink, leave a permanent and living memorial of its attainments. The Bookstore will have a limited number to fill orders as received, but the edition will soon be exhausted.

Just a word of caution to those who have cats as pets. Don't abandon them. If you are a summer resident, take them along with you. Don't leave them to go wild in the woods or to the care of permanent neighbors.

Mrs. Pearl Backus of Forest Hills, N. Y. is entertaining at her summer home here, Rev. and Mrs. H. P. Gulise and their family, also of Forest Hills. Mrs. H. C. Sanford her daughter of Great Neck, N. Y. is also spending some time with her.

SILENT SERMONS

I like to read in silent tree The lesson that is there for me. Its brawny arms outstretched in air Bespeaking power and purpose there.

Again I find in running brooks More wisdom than in many books; While rugged stones and fragrant flowers Speak peace to me for happy hours.

The stars that shine through darkest night Tell me of God's majestic might; A sermon clear the sun conveys, Dispersing shadows with its rays.

Thoughts inspired by soaring birds Oft outweigh a million words; God's silent things of earth and sky Our man-made eloquence defy. —Greenville Kleiser

Boy Scout Cabin On Ashuelot Hill

On the hillside, three miles north of the town, is the cabin of the Boy Scouts in the process of erection. Here may be seen the boys busily engaged in the endeavor to get it enclosed and finished for their use before winter sets in.

NOTED MASSACHUSETTS ARMY OFFICER LIVES IN OLD PONCE DE LEON HOME

Gen. Daley, Native of Worcester and New Army Chief in Puerto Rico, Resides in Explorer's Historic Dwelling

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Brig. Gen. Edmund L. Daley, native of Worcester, Mass., who recently was appointed head of the War Department's new Puerto Rican Division, has the rare privilege of living in one of the oldest and most historic dwellings in this part of the world.

Casa Blanca, his new home situated high above San Juan bay, was built with solid mahogany timbers more than 300 years ago for his family by Ponce de Leon, Puerto Rico's first Spanish governor. It is believed to be the oldest continuously occupied dwelling in the Western Hemisphere.

Repaired extensively a year ago with Federal funds, spacious Casa Blanca is surrounded by luxuriant tropical gardens which contain almost every known variety of tropical foliage, including the brilliant flamboyant tree, coconut palms, bougainvillea, hibiscus, rubber trees, and scores of other colorful trees, shrubs, and flowers. General Daley stated soon after reaching Puerto Rico that the opportunity of living in so noted and charming a residence was one of the high spots of his career, which has taken him to many parts of the world. The chief task confronting General Daley is the construction of fortifications and air bases in the little United States territory, for which Congress has appropriated $30,000,000 as a part of the new national defense program. The establishment of a large, 1400 acre air base at Point Borinquen on the island's west coast, will involve the building of an entire new city for the troops and their families, including homes, shops, movie theaters, parks, and sanitary facilities.

It is likely that the former New Englander also will counsel with Admiral William D. Leahy, Puerto Rico's next Governor, in working out plans for solving the island's pressing economic problems. Suffering from reduced income as the result of a sharp reduction in its sugar quota and lower sales of pineapples, coconuts and other products which have been effected by reciprocal trade agreements, the territory is experiencing the greatest unemployment in its history.

Admiral Leahy naturally will rely to a considerable extent on the advice of General Daley and other experienced officers in the service in working out the solution to the island's problems. General Daley already has been praised in Puerto Rico for his interest in civic affairs and his congenial personality.

Local Scouts Erect A Permanent Cabin On Ashuelot Hill

About a year ago the local Boy Scout members began the work of erecting a permanent camp for their use on Ashuelot hill. The framework of the building was reared, when along came the hurricane and stopped for the time being, further progress. Although many trees had fallen about the place, the structure withstood the storm and after the clearing of the property, work was resumed.

The boys are going up to the location frequently now and are attempting to finish the camp before winter sets in. Although several of the friends of the boys, started the effort, the boys themselves are now doing the work of finishing the camp and making it ready according to plans prepared for them by Selectman Fred A. Holton.

They are engaged in a splendid work and will be rewarded in the enjoyment of the premises. The cabin is on a lot owned by Clifford I. Bolton, who has recently given the boys and their organization a deed for the premises. Most of the lumber used, has been given to the boys by interested friends here and the men of Northfield seminary.

The Boy Scout movement in Northfield is sponsored by the Brotherhood of the Congregational church and the committee in charge consists of Sam Truesdell, George McEwan, George W. Carr, Harry A. Erickson, Edgar J. Livingston and Lester A. Polhemus.

Almost any pleasant day now, visitors to the camp will find the boys busily engaged in the work of construction and the photograph just taken shows them at work and the cabin as it appears today.

The Boy Scout movement is a fine thing for the boys and offers them the opportunity to "do a good turn" both for themselves and for others. With a limited supply of funds they have forged ahead, but now they are going to ask the public for "a lift."

They are planning to hold a food sale on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. George McEwan on Main street, on Saturday, Sept. 2 and cordially urge a town wide patronage. They will solicit the town and invite friends of the scout effort to contribute to the sale.

All monies received will be used in the erection and finishing of the cabin. The boys deserve all the assistance the public can give.

The Garden Club

The Northfield Garden club will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Polhemus on Highland avenue, next Monday, Aug. 28 at 6:30 o'clock. It will be the annual meeting and arrangements for a picnic are to be considered. A full attendance of members is urged.

Nearing Completion Road To Winchester Will Be Open Soon

Rapid progress is being made on the new highway, Route 10, better known as the Wanamaker road improvement, to connect with the finished portion at the state line. The roadbed is fully completed and work is now being done on the entry drives of property owners, the grading of the banks and the setting of the concrete posts which carry the cables along the sides. Just as soon as this work is completed, the detour will be abandoned and through traffic permitted. The section of the highway known as route 63, is not finished but work goes on and pending its completion, traffic to Hinsdale passes over a portion. The bridge at the Wanamaker Pond outlet is finished and its top is seven feet higher than the roadway on the old bridge. Telephone and electric light employees are setting the new poles and stringing the wires on the new locations. The travel on the highway will see a splendid section of roadway, and scenery attractive the entire distance. Little trace will be left of the old Wanamaker road, which no doubt will be abandoned by the town. It will make available many desirable building lots for resident purposes and bring those residents already thereon much nearer to the town. The falls and water course leading to them, has not been interfered with and the pond so much used by swimmers is intact. Although delayed by weather conditions somewhat the construction has progressed steadily and it is quite likely that by Sept. 15 the entire layout can be used. The Benardi corporation have accomplished a good piece of work and the officials of the town are well pleased. The long haggling with the state highway department to secure this improvement can now be forgotten in its accomplishment.

ALL too often, in their haste to obtain needed funds, borrowers become obligated to pay exorbitant rates.

Therefore we suggest that you study the various rates being charged, even though you do not need credit right now.

You will find not only that this bank's personal loan rates are low and fair, but also that the absence of red tape and the convenient terms of repayment compare most favorably with other more expensive loan plans available.

Summer
"Salvation" Cake

By Frances Lee Barton

LUSCIOUS chocolate ice box cake, far from difficult to make; just the thing we like to eat as a treat. Read this recipe a while; clip it for your "special" file. But don't file it till you make one delicious ice box cake! Company comes while you're away — this cake always saves the day.

Luscious Chocolate Ice Box Cake

4 squares unweetened chocolate; ½ cup sugar; dash of salt; ¼ cup hot water; 1 tablespoon cold water; 1 teaspoon granulated gelatin; 4 egg yolks; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 4 egg whites, stiffly beaten; ½ cup cream, whipped; 2 dozen lady fingers.

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add sugar, salt, and hot water, stirring until sugar is dissolved and mixture blended. Add cold water to gelatin and mix. Add to hot chocolate mixture and stir until gelatin is dissolved, then cook until mixture is smooth and well thickened. Remove from boiling water; add egg yolks, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Place over boiling water and cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add vanilla; cool. Fold into egg whites. Chill. Fold in whipped cream. Line bottom and sides of mold with waxed paper. Arrange lady fingers on bottom and sides of mold. Add thin layer of chocolate mixture, then arrange lady fingers and chocolate mixture in alternate layers, topping with chocolate mixture. Cut off lady fingers around sides of mold and arrange cut pieces on chocolate mixture. Chill 12 to 24 hours in refrigerator. If desired, add ½ cup finely cut walnut meats to chocolate mix before turning into mold. Unmold. Serves 12.

Try This Lemon Ice Cream Pie!

Lemon ice cream served in a crumb crust makes Lemon Ice Cream pie, a delicious and refreshing dessert. Beat 2 eggs until lemon-colored. Add sugar gradually to egg until mixture becomes thick like custard. Beat in: 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 2 cups milk (or 1 cup milk and 1 cup coffee cream), 1/4 cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel.

Freeze combined ingredients in refrigerator tray at lowest temperature until stiff. While mixture is freezing, cover bottom of another freezing tray with wax paper. Spread with 1/2 cup crumb mixture made with 1 1/2 cups rolled graham cracker crumbs, 1/4 cup melted butter and 1/4 cup sugar. When ice cream is frozen, remove to a bowl and whip with an electric or hand beater until light and creamy.

Quickly pour the beaten frozen mixture into crumb-lined tray. Top with remaining crumbs. Freeze without stirring at coldest temperature until hard. Unmold, remove waxed paper and cut in 1/2 slices. The lemon ice cream may also be served without the crumb crust. This recipe may be made in a crank freezer, if preferred.

A page-boy passed through the lobby of the exclusive hotel. "Young man" remonstrated the manager, sternly, "you should know that it is against the rules of this hotel for an employee to whistle while on duty." "I'm not whistling sir," replied the employee. "I'm paging somebody's dog."

DECREASED government spending was called for by 58% of those polled in a recent survey by the National Association of Manufacturers. They held that government spending should be decreased in order to bring increased prosperity. Only 8% wanted an increase in spending. An analysis of the returns of the survey showed that even among the lower income levels there was a four to one vote against increased spending. In the great lower middle class, with incomes between $1,200 and $5,500—the vote was fifteen to one in opposition to increased spending. Farmers voted heavily for economy, with only 14% saying "spend more."

EDITORIAL

The resignation of Rev. George Truman Carl, pastor of the Federated church at Winchester is a matter of regret not only to his parishioners but to his many friends throughout this district. He has been pastor of the Federated church there since its formation in 1931 and to his credit has many outstanding accomplishments, chief of which is the Murphy Memorial, a community house provided through the generosity of Governor Murphy. He has been a friend to the needy and the afflicted and, since the editor of this paper has crossed his path in charitable work, and is conscious of his tireless efforts, can speak this tribute of appreciation.

Over in the hills of the Berkshires, on a weather beaten barn, one reads these words: "You are entering God's country, don't drive thru it like hell." It is a readable sign to be seen by the motorist passing along the highway in a beautiful town. The farmer disgusted with the racing of cars, the careless way tourists rush along, and failing to secure adequate police supervision to curb speed, hit upon the idea of a sign. The Federal Writers Project made the discovery and since its publicity, travelers are moving along in the neighborhood slowly to get a glimpse of the sign and admire the farmers ingenuity. Yes they move at more reasonable pace there now, but there is a reason. Perhaps we might imitate the example and at both ends of our town, put up this: "This is Northfield. You are entering God's country. Don't drive through like hell."

The conference season in Northfield is over for this year. It marked the sixtieth season since its establishment by Dwight L. Moody. Since the inception of these religious gatherings, their pattern has been followed in the holding of many similar conferences throughout the country and yet the meetings here each year continue to meet with encouragement, satisfaction and success. In an analysis of the attendance this summer, it will be well to recall that there were seven distinct and separate gatherings. Attendance recorded over 500 ministers, over 50 missionaries, and over 3000 church workers. Fifteen denominations were represented. In all some 200 speakers, addressed more than 200 services and some 1000 classes for study were held. This year general satisfaction prevailed with the speakers and their message. There is every reason for one and all to be full of optimism regarding the Northfield summer conferences.

Business Is Better Reported To Governor

There is a distinct upward movement in business in Massachusetts, reports the New England Council to Governor Saltonstall, which keeps tabs closely on all statistics. Within the state there is also an apparent increase in confidence and hope on the part of the public, who believe that the Governor has led the way in some solution of the heavy taxing problem.

Real estate has been bearing a heavy load in the taxing and its values have steadily declined, until today literally thousands of properties have been confiscated for arrearages. Many industrial plants are vacant in the state and manufacturing needs some strong impetus.

There is every assurance that the Governor means to lead in behalf of the people of the state, from chaos to confidence and out of the financial difficulties of the past few years when reckless spending prevailed altogether too much. The politician is witnessing the "racket" fade and himself branded before the public eye. Even those who were elected to office to represent us, for the honor of the service, need to be watched and their selfish purposes to add to their salaries checked. A former Democratic President is credited with the words, "that public office is a public trust." Send honest men to assume responsibilities and the taxpayers burden will lighten and the problems confronting the present Governor cease.

WHO MAKES A GARDEN

Whoever makes a garden
Has never worked alone.
The rain has always known.
The sun has always known.
The wind has blown across it
And helped to scatter seeds.
Whoever makes a garden,
Has all the help he needs.

Whoever makes a garden
Should surely not complain,
With some one like the sunshine
And some one like the rain,
And some one like the breezes
To aid him in his toil,
And some one like the Father
Who gave the garden soil.

Whoever makes a garden
Has, oh, so many friends!
The glory of the morning,
The dew when daylight ends.
The wind and rain and sunshine,
And new and fertile sod,
And he who makes a garden Works hand-in-hand with God.

DESIGNED AS THE HOME OF A FUSSY FAMILY

There once was a man who said,
"You'll not catch me owning a house. I have headaches enough."
So he rented a house on the edge of town. It was not a new house, but it had all the necessary rooms.
But after a few weeks, his wife complained that since there was really no closet space to speak of, she thought they'd better buy one or two large wardrobes.

So they did. They bought two huge "armories" that required the most-favored-wall space in the bedrooms.

The house, of course, didn't have automatic heat, so every morning and every night, the man would go down into the depths of the cellar, move a good many iron parts, and talk loudly and eloquently to the heating plant.

Then, when the wind blew, the windows would rattle like peas in a dry pod and puffy drafts would sweep across the floor. Of course, the house wasn't insulated.

Countless minor things irritated the man. Doors wouldn't shut tightly, the grass wouldn't grow — not enough topsoil — the hot water tap in the bathroom only dribbled.

Still, the rent was cheap, and being human, they gradually accustomed themselves to the house.
But at the end of a few years, the house needed painting. He spoke to the landlord about it — as he had done so frequently — but the landlord only shrugged his shoulders.

"I'm not making enough on your rent to paint it this season."
Well, the man got so mad that he went home and went into conference with his wife. And three months later to the day they moved into this house.

It is a good house. It was designed by Randolph Evans — who is a small house specialist — for the Monthly Small House Club at 277 East 45th Street in New York. Because this house is designed to last, to be living-proof, it is built with long-lived materials. To prevent drafts and cold walls in winter and unbearably hot bedrooms in summer, both the walls and top floor ceiling are insulated with fireproof mineral wool. Non-rusting water pipes always run full and steady-less, ample closets provide plenty of storage space, and brightly colored asphalt shingles fire-protect the roof. Designed to build for less than $3,000, it fits on a 40 foot lot and still leaves room for a driveway, should a garage be added.
